50X1-HUM

1. The personnel of the graphic industry management office (Polygraficky prumysl) had, by the end of 1951, been purged very thoroughly. It is believed that the organizational structure of the office has not been changed even though the personnel has.¹
 2. All printing machinery being procured by Czechoslovakia today comes from the DDR. Rubber on cylinders of both German and Czech machines is of such poor quality that performance of the machines suffers greatly. Attempts have been made to import rubber for printing use. 50X1-HUM
 3. The Nase vojsko printing shop, formerly called Graficka unie, in Prague 11, Svobodova 1, is directly under the control of the Ministry of National Defense. All Army publications, books, manuals etc. are printed in the shop under strict military supervision.
 4. Starting 1 August 1952, a national Training Center for Typographical Students is to be established in Liberec, Ulice 8 brezna. Training will include political indoctrination as well as subjects relating to printing.
 5. The State Pedagogic Publishing Company (Statni pedagogicke nakladatelstvi), Prague, Ostrovni 30, produces text books for secondary and elementary schools, text books for medical schools and children's books.
